MARY WHYTE, Workshop Instructor

"Still Life, Portrait and Figures with Mary Whyte"

Workshop Dates: October 16 - 18, 2017

Art room at Greensboro College, Cowan Bldg., 815 West Market Street, Greensboro, NC 27401

Explore the wonders of watercolor with an inspirational three-day workshop in Greensboro, NC. Mary will cover the fundamentals of getting a likeness, planning dynamic compositions, mixing clean colors, achieving value balance, and creating paintings with emotion. Her daily demonstrations from life and one-on-one assistance will guide you to making your best paintings ever.

Mary Whyte is a watercolor artist, teacher, and author whose figurative paintings have earned national recognition. Her portraits are in corporate, private and university collections and in permanent collections of South Carolina Greenville County Museum of Art and the Gibbes Museum of Art in Charleston. She has been awarded the Portrait Society of America's Gold Medal. Her work has been seen featured in International Artist, American Artist, The Artist's Magazine, and American Art Collector magazines. She magnificently captures the living Gullah heritage and culture of rural life around Sea Islands and marshlands of the SC low country. She shares customs and traditions of community, food ways, music and spirituality that have survived and evolved for two centuries. She paints a South Carolina as a kingdom of her own as both a writer and painter.
